February 2, 2024

Subject: Invitation to attend the 18th International Symposium of the Protein Society of Thailand

Dear Chancellor / Dean / Head of Department / Director / President / Secretary / Professor / Researcher / Student and Member of Protein Society of Thailand

Since its founding in 2006, the Protein Society of Thailand (PST) has arranged annual symposia for researchers and students to exchange their knowledge, experience, and expertise in protein with invited speakers, scientists, senior researchers, and young scientists from overseas and from Thailand. This year, PST, together with the Laboratory of Biochemistry at Chulabhorn Research Institute and the Center for Excellence in Protein and Enzyme Technology at Mahidol University, have great pleasure to welcome you to the 18th International Symposium of the Protein Society of Thailand (PST2024), which will be held at the Convention Center, Chulabhorn Research Institute during August 28-30, 2024.

Participants will have opportunities to present and share their research through posters and/or oral presentation with an option to publish them in a proceeding. All abstracts and proceedings submitted to this symposium have been critically reviewed prior to the presentations and publications. The Organizing Committee also works with companies to arrange exhibition booths for the display of equipment and supplies for protein research, as well as Luncheon Lectures.

I hope that this 18th International PST Symposium will provide you not only the opportunity to learn about recent advances in protein research and related fields but also the opportunity to interact with regional and Thai protein experts.
